

RE-REVISED VERSION 'DAMAGED GOODS'

Wigwam Showing Today
Interesting and Instructive Sociological Drama.

The new revised edition of "Damaged Goods" will be shown at the Wigwam today and tomorrow. This production was withdrawn from public exhibition on September 1, last year to be revised and elaborated by its original producer, Richard Bennett.

The new edition is in seven reels and is superior photographically and dramatically to the original, which was the most popular motion picture drama of a sociological tendency ever produced in this country.

Extraneous from magazine commentaries follow:

Heart's Magnitude: "There is no unchangeable in fate. 'Damaged Goods' is the story of a man who has been living a life of sin and who is now trying to make good."

The Independent: "It is a wonder that the world has been so long in getting hold of 'Damaged Goods' which is one of France's most powerful contributions to the drama. New York launched it after it had been witnessed as a play in Paris and Brussels, and genuine enthusiasts and doctors everywhere have welcomed it."

Best of all is the physician who dominates the action. There is no sentimentalism. There is no weak and morbid handling of the theme. The doctor appears in his ideal function as the high priest of truth. "Every child, boy or girl, who has reached an age to understand its lesson should see it. Children under 15 will not be admitted unless accompanied by a parent to fully explain the great lesson to them.—Adv.

THE UNIQUE.

The two reel British war picture, which was to have been shown July 4, but which was lost in transit, will be here Wednesday and Thursday.—Adv.

'POLLY OF THE CIRCUS'

Mae Marsh Appears in First Great Goldwyn Photo-Spectacle in Eight Reels.

"Polly of the Circus" an elaborate screen presentation of Margaret May's great drama of circus life, is the first of the beautiful productions to be released by the new Goldwyn Pictures Corporation. Mae Marsh is the star of this immense photo-spectacle which is being shown at the Elrean theater today.

"Polly of the Circus" as a drama, was one of the greatest successes of the American age, and made a fortune for its authors and owners. In films it takes its place as one of the most remarkable productions ever made.

"Polly of the Circus" tells the story of a little circus orphan (Mae Marsh), who has been raised by Tony, the clown (Charles Middleton). Polly is hurt in an accident and goes to remain behind while the show goes on. She is taken to the home of the minister, where her presence in the house is turned into scandal by the narrow minded village gossip.

This leads to her going back to the circus, but the following spring the circus comes back as the little town and through the intervention of a fight and a fire in the "Big Top," Polly and the minister find each other—and happiness.

This is a picture of laughter and tears, a picture of a score of circus thrills and in fact you see a complete circus performance on the screen. The most amazing of all the scenes is the burning of the main tent during the evening performance and the wild stampede of the audience. Everet Shinn, the famous artist, designed the setting, and Margaret Mayo, the author, personally aided Charles Moran, the director of the picture, in his work.—Adv.

ALHAMBRA—ANTONIO MORENO.
Through mistake, the Greater Vitagraph people sent the Alhambra "A Son of the Hills" featuring Antonio Moreno and Belle Bruce, instead of "The Question" featuring Alton Joyce and Larry Morey. "The Question" will be shown at the Alhambra next week. Mr. Moreno and Miss Bruce are fully supported in "A Son of the Hills" by such stars as Robert Gailard and Julie Swann. "A Son of the Hills" is a strong romance of a man of lowly birth and an aristocratic girl with a long lineage. Sandy Morley (Antonio Moreno) is the man of lowly birth, while Belle Bruce is the girl in the case. Because of an incident which detained the girl in a deserted home with a man named Mr. Lanning, Mr. Lanning persuaded her to marry him to save her reputation. This she did. When Sandy learned the state of affairs he compelled Lanning to leave his girl bride and not make her submit to the ties of marriage until she realized what marriage was. In the meantime Sandy makes good in a business way and the girl realizes that he is the man she loves. When something happens to her married life—but see the picture, today. As these two stars are clever and charming, you will enjoy this picture thoroughly. "A Son of the Hills" will be shown at the Alhambra today. Prices are 10c, 15c and 25c.—Adv.

THE BILLOU ATTRACTIONS.
Today the Billou will present a variety bill and it is a good one. Tomorrow "Fatty" Arbuckle will be seen in his latest comedy. "His Wedding Night." "Fatty" Arbuckle says that any man who does not laugh heartily at least three times a day is courting disaster. Of course, Mr. Arbuckle suggests a larger quota of hearty guffaws, if possible. To bring up the subject of the mirth slacker, he has injected more than the customary amount of humor in "His Wedding Night." Admission is 5 and 10 cents.—Adv.

WORLD'S FINEST CIRCUS, 'GRECIAN TRAINED HORSES'

To Avoid Having Rare Animals Commandeered, Owners Ship to America.

As a result of the great war in Europe, America this year has the finest and greatest number of trained horses ever brought together in one country.

To avoid having their valuable animals commandeered, many foreign proprietors shipped their stock to the United States. Advised by their European representatives of this exodus of blooded animals, Ringling

A Pretty English Rider and Her Favorite Mount.

Brothers were able to engage the pick of a great number of new equestrian acts. This season's stables are said to be the most complete ever traveled in the United States. The imported thoroughbreds include splendid specimens from France, Russia, Germany, England, Spain and Arabia. These new foreign acquisitions are augmented by American bred animals raised and taught from colthood on the Ringling Brothers' private stock farms in Wisconsin. No less than 50 beautiful animals frequently appear on the program at one time.

When the Ringling Brothers' circus comes here Thursday, September 20, it will bring a total of 75 horses, embracing every type from the heavy baggage stock to the agile thoroughbreds that prance round the rings on noise like miracle stunts on revolving pedestals. There will be more Shetland ponies than any one circus has ever carried before and these have been trained in maneuvers specially designed to appeal to juvenile patrons. After the morning street parade, the big, dapple grays will be housed in block-long canvas stables and visitors will be permitted to visit the free of any admission charge. Notable among the draft stock is "California Frank," a percheron weighing 2650 and 22 inches tall. Scores of the most beautiful foreign specimens from the Ringling Brothers' stables are this season being utilized in the new "doggie" spectacle "Cinderella," which is said to be by far the most impressive production ever staged under canvas.

EXPORTERS MUST GET PERMIT TO SHIP BULLION TO MEXICO
Instructions relative to the exporting of bullion and coins from the United States have been received by Zach L. Cobb, collector of customs, from Washington. During the period of the war it will be unlawful to ship bullion or coins into Mexico or other foreign countries unless a special license has been obtained from the treasury department. Because of this order it will be necessary for the Carranza government to obtain special permits when it desires to ship money into the republic to operate the government offices and pay the soldiers. These permits must be signed by the secretary, assistant secretary, chief of customs division or acting chief.

EL PASO MUSICAL COMEDY COMPANY IS GOING TO DEMING THURSDAY.

The principal recommendation of "Safety First" the closing production of the Teal company for its El Paso engagement, is its musical numbers.

As a vehicle, "Safety First" has quite a few laughs and a small plot, but the Teal company has presented many performances that were better. The musical numbers, as usual with Teal's show, are all excellent. The chorus girls display a number of pretty costumes and original dances. Miss Madeline Lee and Miss Pansy De Lacour also display some charming gowns in the course of the play which has for the heroine, a cook, who is a victim of all other employees in the house and runs things generally as a cook never does. Fritz Fields masquerades as the cook and essays about the poorest character part of any he has been seen in here.

The usual large house greeted the company for the first night of its farewell bill and it can be said that never in its history has El Paso so generously patronized a show as it has patronized Teal. Raymond Teal and his people have been here steadily since January 21 and they have never played to a poor audience. The reason is that his people are all capable and clever and they can take even a poor show and redeem it with their specialty numbers and their clever work.

This is the longest straightaway run Mr. Teal has ever had in any town. He played six months straight in Houston, four months longer than any other organization ever there. In El Paso he has played almost eight months and the audience was as large for his opening night in the last bill as for the opening night of the first—capacity houses. Capacity business has been the general rule with the Teal offerings. His popular entertainment is a sure thing.

Mr. Teal is going to Deming to open the new Teal theater and remain as long as the stock market is good. He will then return to El Paso. A stock company from Lincoln, Neb., opens at the Crawford next Sunday.
